Hello class of ’93!

For the last 20 years, Caryn Riswold has been the provider of updates for our class. I am grateful that she has been willing to fill this role for such an extended period of time. However, she has decided that it is time to pass the torch, and I have taken the hand off.

It is a great time to fill this role of class agent. You may have heard that during Viking Days this October, we will celebrate the 20th anniversary of our graduation. I am certain that I cannot possibly be that old, yet I eagerly anticipate the chance to see faces of great friends.

South Dakota toward the end of October is most likely not the top spot on your vacation destination list. However, take a moment to remember things like:

- The Buzz Book
- big hair
- Carol Bubbers (“Fine thanks, and you?”)
- notes left on contact paper mounted on dorm doors (since email wasn’t around yet)
- Back Alley dances
- The early morning campout to register for classes or sign up for housing
- big stereos with huge speakers
- intervisitation rules (and breaking them)
- Lorna’s hotdish
- Hook ups and break ups
- Gilligan and the entire Campus Safety crew

The experiences we had at Augie can never be repeated, but they can be brought back to life through laughter and conversation with friends. I hope that you are considering a visit to the past during Viking Days Oct. 18-20.

Please note some changes. Our official reunion will be held on Saturday night to accommodate those that must travel. Our class, along with all other reunion year classes, will gather at the Washington Pavilion from 6-8. This will be followed by a single performance of Varieties at 8:00. (This is the only Varieties performance the entire weekend). We will continue the fun following Varieties at the Afterglow, also at the Washington Pavilion. You can purchase your tickets online at http://www.augie.edu/vikingdays.

In addition to the college sponsored activities, we will have an informal gathering at our (as in Jamie Smith and my) house, 512 N. Euclid, on Friday night from 7-11. As your new class agent, I thought it was only right to host an event. This gathering is open to ALL CLASS OF ’93 ALUM. Let me repeat. This gathering is open to ALL CLASS OF ’93 ALUM. Even if our paths did not frequently cross during our time at Augie, PLEASE consider attending. We will purchase a keg for the event. However, if you would prefer other beverages or snacks, feel free to bring them along.

I have two other duties as assigned. The first duty is to let you know about the Augustana Class of 93 group on Facebook. Joining this group will give you the latest information on the happenings of our class. Consider joining.

The second duty is to ask you to consider supporting Augustana financially. The goal of the Augie alumni program is to keep people connected, but it is also a tool for obtaining financial support. As the daughter of a pastor and a stay-at-home mom, going to Augie was only possible for me because alumni before me chose to give. It is our turn to give to the students of the future. Please consider giving any size gift. Jamie and I have signed up for the perpetual giving program which is an automatic payment that comes directly out of our account. Should you choose this program, you can set up donations to come out monthly, quarterly, annually—whatever fits your needs. Go to http://www.augie.edu/giving to look at the perpetual giving and other donation options.

Here's hoping we see you in October!

Kjerstin Bersagel Smith
Class of ’93 Agent

Class Notes
02/21/13-07/02/13

Turley (Schultz), Sarah - Posted 4/5/2013 9:53:23 AM - Births and Adoptions
Sarah (Schultz) Turley and husband, Patrick, welcomed baby boy Samuel Patrick on October 4, 2012.

Miskowiec (Evanson), Lisa - Posted 3/8/2013 10:55:07 PM - Careers
After moving to Memphis, Tennessee this year, Lisa recently took a job as a Children's Library Associate in charge of the Babygarten program at the Collierville Public Library. Her husband, Allen ('91) is working for PMC Biogenix as a Product Manager. Last May, Lisa received her Masters in Secondary Education and has her teaching certification for English grades 7 - 12. Their four children continue in school full-time.

Chase, Lawrence "Larry" - Posted 3/8/2013 4:38:35 PM - Careers

Elected to a 3 year term representing brewpubs on the Brewers Association Board of Directors. The Brewers Association is a trade organization working to promote and protect small and independent brewers in the United States.